Shropshire, Popa Head Cast In Guignol's 'Angel Street', Second 1944-45 Production

Ginocchio, Palmer,
Rough To Play
Associate Roles

"Angel Street," smash hit on Broadway and basis for the movie "Gaslight," will be the second Guignol production of the 1944-45 season.

The cast will be headed by Ann Wallace Shropshire and Eli Popa, veterans of such Guignol successes as "Dark Eyes," "Candlelight," and "Accent on Youth." Betty Ann Ginocchio, Opal Palmer and Edmund Rough will be featured in prominent roles with a supporting cast of proven ability.

Mystery Play

The play, a mystery, relates the story of the Manningshams of Angel Street. Under the guise of kindness, Mr. Manningham is torturing his wife into insanity. He accuses her of petty thievery which Mr. Manningham himself had arranged, and since her mother died of insanity, Mrs. Manningham is convinced that she is losing her own mind.

However, a kindly police inspector visits Mrs. Manningham and proves to her that her husband is attempting to drive her insane for a diabolical reason.

The game of trying to uncover the necessary evidence against Mr. Manningham then begins.

Cast Selected

Characters are: Mrs. Manningham—Ann Wallace Shropshire; Mr. Manningham—Eli Popa; Nancy—Betty Ann Ginocchio; Elizabeth—housekeeper—Opal Palmer; and Detective Rough—Edmund Mills.

The play, which celebrated its fourth anniversary on Broadway last month, will open Monday, February 26, at the Little Theatre on Euclid avenue and will run for a week.

University Trustees Board Approves New Appointments

Suggesting that the annual Arts and Sciences lecture series be changed to one annual lecture, a plan submitted by Dean Paul P. Boyd, of the Arts and Sciences college, was approved at the meeting of the Trustees of the University Friday in the Union building.

The one annual lecture would be presented by an outstanding faculty member chosen by the whole faculty, regardless of his field.

The professor chosen will be designated "Distinguished Professor" for the current school year, and will be relieved of his teaching duties for one quarter to permit him to do further creative and scholarly work according to the plan.

Gifts Accepted

A number of gifts reported to the board by Dr. Donovan were accepted "with gratitude." They included a grant of $14,000 from the General Education board to the College of Commerce for general expansion of the work of the Bureau of Business Research; a continuing company's scholarship fund of $395.94; a gift of $600 from Thomas Roland Dean of Tulsa, Okla., graduate of the University in the class of 1896, for the scholarship fund; a contribution of $1,500 from the Southeastern Greyhound company through President Guy A. Huguet, to be used in the publication of materials relating to travel in the south, and the gift of a registered Aberdeen-Angus heifer from Julius G. Clark, Fayette county, to the University Experiment station.

Report Is Submitted

University Comptroller Frank D. Peterson submitted his financial report for the first six months of the biennium, and the annual University audit report to June 30, 1943, was presented to the board.

In his annual report for the year 1943-44, President Donovan told members of the board that during the period of the war the University has already trained more than 5,000 men for special types of military service. He reported also that when the University library was completed in 1931 it had 113,000 volumes on its shelves, which number has been trebled by June, 1944. He listed for their information many gifts of fine books which the University has received in recent years.

College of Arts and Sciences, Carl B. Edwards named student assistant in physical education. Robert S. Cottrell appointed professor in the Department of History for the second term of the summer quarter. Margaret Pfeffer was named instructor in psychology, and Elizabeth L. Board Amends Dance Ban Ordinance

SGA Represents UK Students With Petition

The ordinance banning dancing in Lexington at places selling food or beverages of any description was amended by the board of city commissioners after a committee of six students from the Student Government Association appeared before the board Thursday night, January 18, and presented a petition from the student body of the University requesting that the ordinance be modified. As it is now, the ordinance prohibits dancing only in establishments selling alcoholic beverages.

50 Attend

In the meeting attended by 50 persons including clergymen and members of various church congregations, President Bill Embry of SGA presented the student petition and said that the petition was from the students and that they were acting under no authority from the University. Stating that the students were aware of the conditions of some of the places, Embry emphasized that they were willing to co-operate; but that they desired a place for dancing and not a place for drinking alcoholic beverages. The petition pointed out the fact that if dancing were banned many young people might find an undesirable substitute amusement.

Arguments Presented

After clergymen and townsmen had commended the commissioners for the passing of the ordinance, arguments were presented for both sides and William B. Martin, Lexington attorney, pointed out that the ordinance had practically stopped all dancing in Lexington. City Clerk James Wilder read the ordinance at the delegation and the meeting then was recessed while the four commissioners who were present reached their decision for amendment.

John Hopkins, Marjean Wrenstrum, Marybelle Calvert, Gwen Pace, and Betty Tevis accompanied Embry as members of the student committee and members of the Student Government Association.

66 Reservists, 44 AST's Ordered To Report To UK

Ninety-six new Reservists and forty-four AST's have been ordered to report to the University and are expected to arrive in the next few weeks, according to Capt. R. L. Stivers of the Military department. To provide housing facilities for the new arrivals, the government has taken over Kinkead hall, the second men's residence to be used for this purpose. The civilian men now residing in Kinkead are expected to vacate the hall immediately.

According to Dean T. T. Jones, housing for 33 of the vacating civilians will be furnished through two housing units operated by the University. The remaining upper-classmen are expected to find their own quarters for themselves, but Dean Jones has a list of vacancies available for their use.

Yesterday, the AST's men and reservists now stationed on the campus received seven-day furlough. They are expected to resume their studies immediately upon their return.

With the present number of 170,

the new arrivals will bring the total to 309 military men at the University.

Why Get Even?

Naturally we were a little bit peed about the reception the University of Tennessee gave the Wildcats when they played at Knoxville last week, and we can agree with those who saw the game that it wasn't exactly a good sportsmanship attitude on the part of the hosts.

But there's a lot involved when the two teams begin to feel a bitter jealousy.

The Tennessee Volunteers have been arch rivals in sports as far back as Kentucky's football and basketball history goes. They have always been the most important team in the conference to beat; they are sometimes even scheduled for homecoming, the biggest event in the year; and the 'Cats fight harder when they're up against the strong southern team.

And there's a difference between fighting hard with the purpose of winning a fair competitive game and battling relentlessly with the sole idea of getting ahead even if it calls for foul play. Kentucky has never made a practice of anything but a fair, clean game and even now with a bitterness newly stirred up against an old

Girls in the dormitory at Radcliffe College keep their housemates well informed of how they fare on dates by using different colored inks in registering the time they come in. Kentuckian Looks Forward To College Days

By Shirley Meister

Editor of Kernel
Lexington, Kentucky
Dear Editor:

Last week I was very surprised and happy to receive your copy of the Kentucky Kernel, and I wanted you all to know how much it really meant to me.

I was sorry to hear about Marvin Akers being injured in France. The fellows who played together on the 42-43 basketball team are surely hitting it hard.

About a year ago I ran into a couple of fellow Sigma Nu's in Texas. Later on I ran into one in New York and I've seen others elsewhere. Also saw Charlie Kuhn, bombardier of a B-29, several months ago. It's really swell to see all the fellows I knew at UK. I sure hope to be back in school with them all again soon!

Congratulations to you on the swell basketball team this year. It makes us feel good to read about such a great team and be able to claim the college from which it came.

Keep up the good work and one of these days we'll be back to take some of the burden from your shoulders.

Sincerely,
—B. R. KIMBEL, S1/c AOM

THE SALT

By Billie Fischer
the man was back, asking for another one. The manager said, "Sir, I understand that you have been returning for ticket after ticket all evening. Is anything wrong?"

"Wrong!" shouted the little man. "Everytime I try to get in the door, some damn fool tears it up!"

The presence of Mr. Roy E. Dickerson, who talked about love, marriage and courtship, on the campus this week, was keenly felt. It seems that everyone managed to take in at least one of his talks. When Mr. Dickerson asked "Are there any questions?" we sort of wondered which gay little devil answered, "Where's an ashtray?"

A man walked up to the box office of the Kentuckian theater and bought a ticket. Within two minutes he was back for another one. He walked away, only to return for another ticket. He did this again and again and again.

Pat Mendenhall: "I'm going to spend the rest of my life drawing pictures of coat-hangers because no matter how you see if he came back to buy another ticket. In a few seconds,

Patterson to Write School History

In the next issue of the Kentucky Alumnus will appear the first installment of a history of the University, which will be written by President Emeritus James K. Patterson. President Patterson is perhaps better acquainted with the history of the school than anyone else, since he has been closely connected with it from the time of its foundation.

Alumni Celebration

A period of thirty-five years is represented in the class that attended the Thanksgiving and Homecoming functions held here last week by the Alumni of State University.

Wednesday night at a smoker in the main dining room of the Phoenix hotel, a snake dance was started and 300 alumni circled and wound between the tables to the accompaniment of college yells of past and present.

DENEWS-SALVEN

Bright young misses are glib about the practical things, as well as pretty angles on the fashions they choose, so we feel a word about what is to be expected this spring is necessary.

Naturally it is expected and has been taken for granted since the beginning of the war that the dress manufacturers will be limited to the amount of material they use. With the United States in its 4th year of war the shopper will find that this year material will be cut even more, which is inevitable even though it seems impossible.

The well-dressed girl this spring will be wearing a simple suit of wool, flannel, or gabardine. The skirt cut on the simplest of lines will have a small fuc on either side tapering off to practically nothing at the knees. The square little bolero will have full or three-quarter length sleeves and will be collarless. Along the dress line, faithful prints will be back playing their important role, possibly with sweetheart neck, hint of sleeves, triple pepium which artfully point up slimness above and below.

states of world happenings

JOHN CONNELLY . . . WHAS' News Reporter, heard every week day at 5:15 and 10:00 P.M., is a man with an immense following. His rich baritone voice carries authority, avoids the pitfalls of prejudice and bias, in strict compliance with the requirements of a free press and radio.

Five news service teletypes, ready-to-read wires, and a CBS book of "War Words" makes for authentic reporting, yet few men reach the news mike without five years' apprenticeship on 50,000-watt stations. John, young, blonde and handsome, set his course to radio news while still in Northwestern University, following up with voice training in Chicago. He was soon handling political broadcasts from Illinois' state capitol.

Seven years' association with radio news, two of which have been with WHAS. John has witnessed release of world-shaking news . . . Pearl Harbor, the Allied invasion, and his recent reporting of election returns throughout the night, are but three examples.

A news veteran of but twenty-seven years, John is married and, when not at the station, pursues his hobby of building model bombers.

Scenes Around The Campus:

In casual campus clothes is Mary Fox Clark dancing at the Fireplace in a midnight black sweater and skirt with single strand pearls.

Joan Latta playing a quick hand of bridge at the Union in a champagne pink cashmere and sky blue wool skirt; Sue Flynn, sitting in the grill wearing a red corduroy dress, with green braid on the four pockets, finished with 12 green buttons down the back. The campus favorite, a V-necked sloppy Joe sweater blue, and a watermelon wool skirt is worn by Sue Nicholas; Horty Ackerman walking to the library in a chocolate brown sweater, and brown and yellow plaid skirt; looking a little on the Scottish side is petit Virginia Stevens sporting a red plaid wool suit, the most unusual of its kind.

Playing the piano in Boyd hall lounge we find Ann Jefferies in a cocoa-brown pleated skirt and an olive wool jacket with three-quarter length sleeves, and a draw string waist. Last but not least, an item of interest are the girls strolling and from classes in their Navy men's jackets. Lucky Gals!

Bird's Eye View of Spring

Although Old Man Winter is still blowing his icy breath on the back of our necks, the thought of spring and its pastel prints, and Easter outfit, are a gal's main thoughts these days.

Bright young misses are glib about the practical things, as well as pretty angles on the fashions they choose, so we feel a word about what is to be expected this spring is necessary.

These young women go to classes, study (?), play bridge, "bull session," follow the same college-girl routine, but they're the ones who stare longest at the "Back Home For Keeps" pin-ups. They're the ones who hound the desk at mail-call and the ones who keep a late vigil writing air and V-mail letters.

It was interesting talking to these girls, learning just why they're back in school, and when I asked them to contrast school before and after marriage under war-time rules—well, here's what they said:

Mrs. Charles E. Salven, formerly Dot Denews, of Ashland, is the most recent bride. She was married Christmas eve. Says Dot, whose husband has just returned from 25 months overseas duty with the Navy, "I graduate (with prayers and much hope) in March, and I plan to join my soldier-husband wherever he's stationed. School's the bunk now, as far as I'm concerned."

Mrs. Staney A. Warner, known on campus as Marge Palmore, is another of the married co-eds who resides in Jewell. Her husband, "Pete" Warner, who pilots an AAF fort in Italy now, is a former UK student. He was a member of the '40-'41 football team.

When asked how about this coming-back-to-school-after-you're-married deal, Marge laughed and said, "You know, I thought one came to school to learn to support one's self. I gained a different objective, and wonder why I'm up here finishing school. Guess the Air Corps needs him more at the present. He is a very valuable man, you understand."

Mrs. Henry D. Fitzpatrick, former beauty attendant (in '42) Martha Jane Thompson, whose husband is with Patton's army in France, answered, "I take everything more seriously, studies especially. I don't believe in this livin' alone and havin' to like it, though."

Mrs. Paul J. Shepherd, the former Nancy Lassiter, Richmond, is the luckiest one of the wives. Her husband is in Norfolk, Va., and she has seen him recently.

"I've been engaged since I entered college so there is not much contrast in my before-and-after marriage status while in school. In other words, I haven't done much whistling out the window up here," Nancy confessed.

Mrs. James P. Marshall, formerly Shirley Moser of Louisville, met her husband here in '42. He was an AGR as a student here, but is now a sergeant in the Infantry overseas.

Living Alone - Not Liking It

Of course everyone on the campus has heard of the gems of "Jewel" hall, but special attention should be given to six of the most beweled ones—those who own stones with matching "plain gold bands."

These young women go to classes, study (?), play bridge, "bull session," follow the same college-girl routine, but they're the ones who stare longest at the "Back Home For Keeps" pin-ups. Wildcats Bow To Volunteers In Topsy-Turvy 35-34 Game For The Season's Only Deficit

Tingle, Campbell,
Stough, Pace 'Cats
Against Rivals

The Wildcat's string of 11 straight victories was broken and their hopes of an undefeated season were smashed Saturday by the Tennessee Volunteers in a 35-34 defeat in Knoxville.

Kentucky grabbed an early lead and remained ahead during the entire first quarter although the Vols managed to tie the score 3-3 at one time. After five minutes of play the Wildcats had doubled the score 10-5; then Tennessee put together a group of free throws to cut Kentucky's margin to three points, 18-15 at the intermission.

Lead Cut

Midway in the second half, Paul Walter sank a clip to put the Vols ahead 21-20 and after that USU could not manage to gain any edge for victory during the rest of the contest. Two field goals by Jack Tingle and another by Jack Parkinson cut the Vols lead to one point, two minutes before the end of the game after Tennessee had held a 35-28 advantage.

Three minutes elapsed before Tingle's goal opened the scoring and then Parkinson and "Dutch" Campbell settled down to turn the heat on as the 'Cats quickly picked up a 10-5 margin.

Shooting Wildly

The game closed with Kentucky shooting wildly from every angle, and with every shot went a prayer to overcome the one point deficit. Missing the basket from far out seemed to spell out the forthcoming disaster as the Wildcat shots would rim the basket and then skim off. The 'Cats' defense was almost airtight in the first period as they kept the opposition from scoring beyond the foul circle. But in the second frame they had better luck as they consistently hit the mark and whittled away the Wildcat's early lead.

A flare up of tempers under the basket after a pile up caused many of the 3,000 spectators to empty out onto the floor. The police quickly restored order. This contest was the bitterest for both teams.

Five minutes from the end of the game the Vols held a 35-28 lead, but Tingle turned loose two long ones while Parkinson sandwiched in a one-handed beauty to draw within one point of a tie. Tennessee tried to freeze the ball but UK got one more try, only to fall as the game-ending whistle blew.

Commed For Play

Johnny Stough and Campbell were commended for their excellent play with Tingle racking up 13 points as high point man of the game. Ivy Barnett paced along second with 11 points. Walter and Kemper turned in the best aggressive performance for the Vol's quintet. The win was Tennessee's third against Southeastern Conference competition and the ninth-victory in ten games, losing only to Temple, a team Kentucky defeated.
